

A report on the brilliant me

Acer.T.Computer

My name is Acer.T.Computer, and I am the most perfect thing that the humans have ever created. I know pretty much everything, just type it into the internet with my perfectly organised keyboard and I will automatically give you over 1 million results for your search. I can show you what antisestablishmentarianism means with an online dictionary, I can show you images of the world from an astronaut's point of view, I can show you anything you want to know about any town, in any country, in the world. My owner, Ellie Abbey, searches a lot of things on me, and I have never once failed her (except that time I crashed when she was researching South Africa, but that was an accident wasn't it?). I once told her how to stop global warming, and another time I showed her why the sky is blue, and all with my perfect self and my overflowing brain. The internet is one of the most fantastic places to be, and I have taken Ellie and her friends there time and time again. Aren't I just supreme?

I also give people a variety of games, whether they are educational or non-educational. One of their favourites is education city, a good education game where you can choose from a range of science, math or literacy games. I also give them club penguin and buildabearville, which aren't educational but are still extremely fun. See, I am a barrel of laughs too, aren't I brilliant?

I also give lots of Microsoft programmes, like Word, Publisher, PowerPoint and Outlook. On these programmes you can do many things, and they are much quicker than handwriting. I am so amazing, yes? I also have an amazing spell-check thing, which, when you stupidly make a mistake (unlike me, I never make mistakes as I am perfect), it puts a squiggly red line underneath it, which you can right click on and I will brilliantly spell the word the right way for you. I also do grammar checks, in which if you make a mistake in grammar I will put a squiggly green line under it, which you again right click and I will put it right for you. I am so generous aren't I? You can't possibly get any perfecter than me!

I am so amazingly perfect that I even show you images, videos and music. You can watch cool/funny/educational videos and see cool images to add to your reports, which you can copy and paste onto Word, one of my perfect Microsoft programmes. You can also listen to your favourite music whenever you want, by downloading it off the internet into your documents, where you can play it any time you like over and over again! I have a brilliant memory, so I can store as many things as you like for years. How brilliant am I?

I also keep you updated on all the important dates and news that is going on at your school. A few months ago, no-one could go to school because of the snow; however Ellie was always updated on what day she could go back on the internet.

That is all that I have to say about the perfectly perfect me. Thank you for reading.

By Acer.T.Computer

(Actually by Ellie and Caitlyn, Acer's owner and owner's friend.)

Us!